Think Innovative:

Eight pillars of thinking innovatively are:

- 1) Have a mission that matter
- 2) Think big but start small
- 3) Strive for continual innovation, not instant perfection
- 4) Look for ideas everywhere

Verse 474, Thirukkural

- "Who adopts not, boasts pride and ignorant
- He is speed to have a speedy end"
- The manager, as a change agent is responsible to educate the employees about the need for the change and to introduce required policies in the operations. Managers can not afford to be ignorant of the changes, they can not choose not to adopt having false confidence on it's past laurels

- 5) Share everything
- 6) Fuel with data
- 7) Be a platform
- 8) Never fail to fail

LOGICAL PUZZLE:

Susan and Lisa decided to play tennis against each other. They bet Rs.10 on each game they played. Susan won three bets and Lisa won Rs.50. How many games did they play?

Ans: Eleven. Because Lisa lost three games to Susan, she had lost Rs.30 (Rs. 10 per game). So, she had to win back that Rs. 30 with three more games, and then win another five games to win Rs. 50.

If five cats can catch five mice in five minutes, how long will it take one cat to catch one mouse?

Ans: Five minutes. Using the information we know, it would take one cat 25 minutes to catch all five mice ($5 \times 5 = 25$). Then working backward and dividing 25 by five, we get five minutes for one cat to catch each mouse.

Plastic as payment

One major problem we have in modern society is the issue of plastic pollution. Greenpeace estimates there are 12.7 million tonnes of plastic in our oceans and we aren't doing enough to recycle our waste. There are some interesting solutions to these sorts of problems, one of the most eyebrow-raising of which actually started in China several years back.

In 2013, an initiative began which saw the installation of special machines in the various subway stations in Beijing.

These machines allowed travelers to pay with plastic. Passengers could deposit plastic bottles and receive credit towards their subway fares. A simple, yet effective way to encourage people to recycle.

Practice roads

This is a playground in Copenhagen designed to help children learn how to interact with traffic. Particularly, how to ride their bikes with road sense and to deal with various types of pedestrian crossing.

Satellites hunting ocean waste

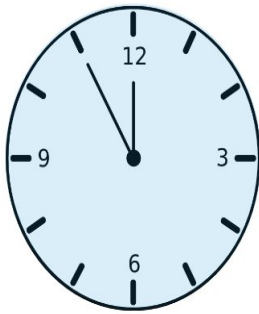

We all know there's a problem with micro plastic waste in the ocean. Now scientists from the University of Michigan are putting NASA's satellites to work tracking the issue.

They're using multiple satellites that are usually used to track wind and speed movement over the ocean and using that data to work out where micro plastics are most likely to congregate as a result.
